Fashioning Lifelong Faith through Creative Formation

March 10, 2012

10:00 AM to 3:00 PM

Cost: $40 (includes lunch)

Ms. Dorothy Linthicum

We will weave together community, prayer, teaching, proclamation and service into a tapestry that enriches the faith and lives of parishioners of every age and background. Using the ideas of Maria Harris, we will explore new paradigms of Christian formation to help our churches meet the needs of the present and the future.

Dorothy Linthicum

Dorothy Linthicum, an instructor at Virginia Theological Seminary, has studied and taught human growth and faith development; researched the changing demographics in the Church and our culture, and continues her role as managing editor of the Episcopal Children's Curriculum and Episcopal Teacher. She has observed and been a part of several congregations, and has a passion for Christian formation and its role in weaving together disparate parts of parishes into a tapestry of beauty and function.
